Are you a Luxembourg or European Union enterprise with impactful know-how or technology? Eager to develop innovations for developing countries or commercialise your solutions in new markets? With a financial boost from the BPF, explore new business horizons through the development cooperation!

OVERVIEW OF THE BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP FACILITY

What is the Business Partnership Facility?

Recognizing the crucial role of the private sector in advancing the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals \(SDGs\), Luxembourg's Ministry of Foreign and European Affairs, Defence, Development Cooperation, and Foreign Trade set up the BPF in 2016.

This initiative supports projects led by businesses based in the European Union and their partners based in a developing country. Through innovative co-financed initiatives, the BPF addresses significant societal challenges for the partner country's development, including poverty reduction, food security, climate change mitigation, quality education, decent work and economic growth, and access to clean drinking water, among others.

Are you eligible for this open call?

To be eligible, projects must be initiated as part of a partnership involving at least one European Union-based company and an entity based in a developing country.

Each project is thus led by:

- A lead partner: a private sector company based in Luxembourg/European Union, which submits the application, coordinates the project on behalf of the other partners, and signs the co-financing agreement;
- Local partner(s): private or public entities, universities, research institutes, or civil society actors established in a developing country eligible for Official development assistance as defined by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Development Assistance Committee (DAC).

Additional local and/or associated partners may also be included to enhance the partnership. An associated partner is an entity based in the European Union that works alongside the lead and local partners, contributing complementary expertise and additional financing to the project. To ensure effective project implementation, we recommend including no more than four partners.

The lead partner must meet the following administrative eligibility criteria:

- Be a legally registered commercial or cooperative enterprise in Luxembourg or the European Union for at least three years by the application submission deadline;

- Demonstrate an average annual turnover of at least EUR 500,000 over the three years preceding the project call launch, or three times higher than the cofinancing requested;
- Employ a minimum of five personnel at the date of the application submission deadline;
- Comply with the “de minimis” regulation. Check the FAQ below for more details

There are no specific administrative eligibility conditions for the local partner(s), other than being an entity based and legally registered in the country where the project is implemented.

Which projects are co-financed?

The BPF supports the implementation of innovative business partnerships that contribute to major societal challenges for the development of the partner country.

Co-financed projects can take various forms, including:

- Conducting feasibility studies for innovative projects in the target country;
- Implementing pilot versions of solutions in new markets;
- Structuring production chains or deploying an innovative solution on a larger scale.

What support is provided?

The selected partnerships can benefit from a co-financing of up to EUR 300,000, representing a maximum of 50% of the total proposed project budget.

Candidates are advised that this co-financing should be considered as aid falling under the “de minimis” regulation.

What are the expected results?

Co-financed projects must contribute to the achievement of the SDGs. In concrete terms, the ultimate aim is to enhance the lives and livelihoods of populations in the countries where the projects are implemented.

DETAILS OF THE BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP FACILITY

What are the targeted sectors?

The BPF welcomes projects from all sectors, as long as they contribute to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals by pioneering innovative solutions for important development challenges.

However, co-financed projects may not include activities in the following sectors: weapons, mines, alcohol, gambling, tobacco, pornography, extractive industries, and non-renewable energies.

What is the geographic focus?

Projects must be implemented in one of the countries eligible for official development assistance, as defined by the Development Assistance Committee of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD).

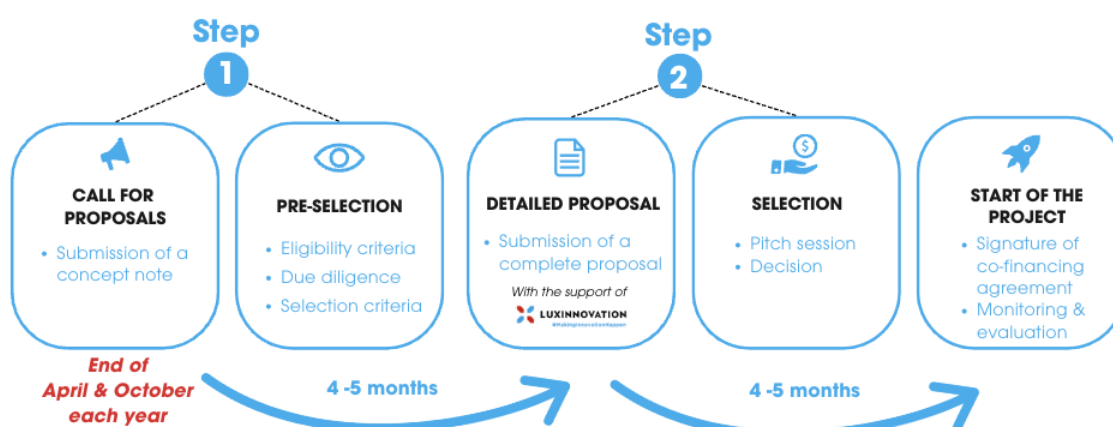

What are the selection criteria?

Proposed projects are assessed against the following selection criteria:

- Innovation and cost-effectiveness: For a solution to be considered innovative, it must sufficiently distinguish itself from products, services, or approaches already present in the local market. This may involve differences in design, distribution, target audience, economic model, and anticipated resilience to future developments;
- Societal impact and futureproof: The solution must contribute to the Sustainable Development Goals, such as job creation, poverty reduction, access to healthcare, preservation of ecosystems and biodiversity, and combating climate change, etc. Projects must take into account adaptation to future risks and trends;
- Project viability and financial sustainability: Partners must demonstrate that the project will be able to generate revenue in the short or long term, ensuring its continuity beyond the co-financing period. Projects with opportunities for additional funding after the project ends will be valued;
- Additionality and neutrality of co-financing: Projects must provide added value that would not have been created without the financial support of the BPF. The BPF committee pays special attention to avoiding market distortion by co-financing projects similar to initiatives already present in the market;
- Added value for all partners: Partnerships must be balanced, efficient, and mutually beneficial for each partner, demonstrating complementary skills and expertise mobilised by each of them within the project;
- Potential of technology/know-how transfer: Projects must detail technology transfers from North to South, including specific technologies, skills and know-how. Emphasis should be on training employees in developing countries, assessing the effectiveness of the skills transfer and ensuring its sustainability.

FAQs

Updated FAQ following the webinar on 11/02/2025

ELIGIBILITY

1) What types of entities can serve as lead partner for the Business Partnership Facility?

Only commercial or cooperative enterprises legally registered in Luxembourg or the European Union are eligible to serve as lead partners for BPF projects. Associations, NGOs, foundations or higher education institutions do not qualify as lead partners.

2) What are the maturity criteria for projects eligible for BPF co-funding?

The BPF can co-finance projects at different levels of maturity: feasibility study, design of a prototype or MVP, launch of a pilot project on a new market, structuring of production chains, deployment of an innovative solution on a larger scale, etc. To get inspired, explore our portfolio and discover examples of projects we already co-financed.

3) What's the reference date for the three-year existence criterion of the lead partner?

The lead partner must have been registered for more than three years by the application submission deadline.

4) How is the annual turnover calculated to determine the eligibility of the leading partner?

The annual turnover considered for determining the eligibility of the lead partner corresponds to the average annual turnover achieved over the three fiscal years preceding the year of the submission of the project proposal.

To qualify for the maximum amount of co-financing from the BPF, the lead partner must have an average annual turnover of at least 500,000 EUR over the past three years.

However, businesses with lower turnovers can also apply, but their turnover (average over three years) must be three times higher than the co-financing amount requested. For example: if an enterprise has an average turnover of EUR 300,000 over the previous 3 years, the co-financing amount requested must not exceed EUR 100,000.

5) Are there any restrictions on where the lead partner's employees can live?

There are no restrictions on the place of residence of employees of the lead partner, who may be based outside Europe and/or in developing countries.

6) What type of employment contract should the lead partner's employees have?

The employees of the lead partner must have an employment contract that complies with national legislation. Interns, contractors, or freelancers are not considered employees.

7) In practical terms, what does it mean for the lead partner to "comply with the "de minimis" regulation?

The "de minimis" regulation is part of the legislative framework adopted by the European Union to regulate the granting of state aids to businesses, aiming to minimise distortion of competition within the internal market. "De minimis" aid, whose amount does not exceed a certain ceiling, can be granted by Member States without prior notification or authorization. They are regulated by Regulation 2023/2831 of December 13, 2023.

Taking into account this regulation, an enterprise can only receive up to EUR 300,000 of "de minimis" public aid over a period of 3 consecutive fiscal years. Aid received under other regulations than the "de minimis" regulation is not counted towards these ceilings.

Applicants are advised to verify the amount of "de minimis" aid related to their company with the Ministry of Economy of their country of establishment or any other authority authorised to provide this information.

8) Is R&D aid considered in the calculation of the amount of "de minimis" aid?

Aid granted for R&D projects is not included in the "de minimis" calculation.

9) As a lead partner, can I benefit from other public funding if I receive a co-financing from the BPF?

It is possible to accumulate “de minimis” aid received, up to the ceiling of EUR 300,000 over three rolling financial years. You may also receive public support for other purposes, which are not included in this ceiling.

10) Do any eligibility conditions apply to the local partner?

The local partner must be a legally registered entity in the developing country where the project will be implemented. There are no restrictions on the type of organisation: the local partner can, for example, be a private company, a public entity, a university, a research institute, or a civil society organisation.

11) Can branches of European/Northern enterprises be considered as local partners?

It is possible to consider the branches of European or Northern companies as local partners. However, it is strongly recommended to prioritize other types of local partners or, at a minimum, to involve an additional local partner.

12) Can a joint venture between the lead partner and a local enterprise be considered a local partner?

It is possible to consider a joint venture between the lead partner and a local enterprise as local partner for BPF projects.

13) Can I submit a project in several countries?

Yes, it is possible to submit a project involving multiple developing countries. However, to avoid complicating the project’s implementation, we recommend that applicants limit the project’s scope to a maximum of two countries.

14) Are there any exclusion criteria?

In addition to the eligibility criteria, the following exclusion criteria apply:

- The partners are responsible or involved in environmental degradation, human rights violations, forced labor, or child labor;
- The partners and the solution do present a significant risk for people and the land;
- The partners are subject to any ongoing criminal proceedings related to fraud, corruption, money laundering, terrorism, human trafficking or any other legal obligations, and engage in discrimination based on race, colour, age, sex, gender identity and expression, ethnic or national origin, disability, pregnancy, religion, political affiliation, union membership, veteran status, protected genetic information, or marital status in hiring and employment practices, including wages, promotions, rewards, and access to training;
- The partners are subject to sanctions by the European Union (EU) and their representatives (owners or executives) are listed on the EU sanctions list;
- The partners have not fulfilled their obligations relating to the payment of taxes and social security contribution in accordance with the legal provisions of the country in which they are established;
- The partners do not comply with the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights and with the OECD Guiding Principles on Human rights (chapter IV) for themselves and throughout their entire value chain;
- The partners are bankrupt, insolvent, are not being wound up, have not ceased operations, are not having their affairs administered by the courts, have not entered into an arrangement with creditors and are not in any analogous situation arising from a similar procedure provided for in national legislation or regulations.
- The partners imply operations in the following sectors: weapons, mining, alcohol, gambling, tobacco, pornography, extractive industries, and non-renewable energy.

PRE-SELECTION PHASE

15) What is the recommended duration of a project?

The projects supported should have a duration of one to two years.

16) How do I fill in the application form?

The application form is concise but needs to be thorough enough to clearly outline the partners involved, the nature of the partnership, and the project idea, all while aligning with the BPF selection criteria.

17) How do you define innovation?

Innovation is about creating, finding, adapting, and applying new ideas, approaches, products, services or methods to solve existing problems or meet unmet needs. It is not limited to the creation of something completely new, but also encompasses the significant and creative modification of what already exists or its use in a new context. Also, innovation can provide a solution that had no local demand because it was not known, but which meets a real need in terms of impact. To be considered "innovative", the solution must be sufficiently distinct from other products, services or approaches already on the market in the country in question. This may mean distinctions in the design features of the product/service to better meet needs, the distribution model, the customer segment (i.e. offering new products or services to previously underserved populations), the business model (who pays and who benefits, the price), the resilience of the product or service (anticipating future developments).

18) Is there a preferred impact theme?

The BPF is open to any type of positive environmental and social impact, as long as the project contributes to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) by proposing an innovative solution to a clearly identified development challenge. Partners should endeavour to identify the number of people affected by an identified problem, the scale, trend and geography of the problem, the root causes of the problem and how it affects people's living conditions in concrete terms. They should then clearly indicate what impact the project is expected to have, for example in terms of job creation, access to basic infrastructure and services, social services, goods and services relating to quality of life, etc.

19) How is additionality defined?

In the context of BPF, additionality marks a positive contribution that would not have been made without co-funding and generally characterizes projects that take bold risks to provide innovative and impactful solutions. To assess additionality, the selection committee will take the following aspects into account:

- The limited ability of the partners to finance the project themselves within a reasonable timeframe or to obtain similar support from a commercial investor;
- The impact of the co-financing on the project's results, including not only the existence of results but also their scale, quality and speed of achievement;
- Demonstration that the results of the project would not have been possible without the co-financing, and that they are therefore greater, of better quality or achieved more quickly thanks to the co-financing;
- The project's potential to stimulate replication of the model or systemic change in this market or industry.

20) How do you define the futureproof criterion?

The futureproof criterion refers to the degree of adaptation of the company to future risks and trends, such as climate change and land degradation, changes in consumption patterns, and Industry 4.0.

Looking at the overall potential impact of the project (positive and negative, short and long term), is the project economically, socially, and environmentally sustainable and forward-looking concerning risks, threats, and major global trends? For example, depending on the objectives of each action, does the project include in its analysis the risks and impacts as well as the opportunities that megatrends such as climate change and the fourth industrial revolution (among others) could have on its analysis of profitability?

21) Can the BPF support newly formed partnerships?

Yes, the BPF can support all types of partnerships, whether it is a first collaboration or a long-standing partnership. The key is to demonstrate the relevance of the partnership by highlighting the expertise involved, the experience of the partners, as well as the mutual interests and benefits for all parties.

22) Who is in the BPF pre-selection committee?

The BPF pre-selection committee is made up of representatives from the Ministry of Foreign and European Affairs, Defence, Development Cooperation and Foreign Trade, LuxDev, the Ministry of the Economy and the Luxembourg Chamber of Commerce.

23) How will I receive notification of pre-selection for the BPF co-financing?

You will receive a notification letter informing you about the results of the preselection by email, usually around two months after the call for proposal ends. If your project is shortlisted, you will then receive documents and information about the next steps for submitting your detailed proposal.

An enterprise whose project has not been preselected may also resubmit a revised version of the project, incorporating the selection committee's feedback, or submit a different project for the next call for proposals.

31) What policy applies to intellectual property?

Ownership, title, and industrial and intellectual property rights to the results of the action and to reports and other documents relating to it are vested in the partner. However, the partner grants LuxDev the right to use, free of charge and as it sees fit, any documents in any form whatsoever derived from the action, while respecting pre-existing industrial and intellectual property rights.

In addition, the partner authorises LuxDev to publish on its website and on the project website, photos and videos of the action supplied by the partner as part of the report.

Good Grants platform complies with the European General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

Check the rest of the FAQ on the following pages for more information on the next steps if your project is preselected!

SELECTION PHASE

34) What should my detailed proposal contain?

Shortlisted candidates will receive instructions on how to submit their detailed proposal. It will include a business case, an activity plan, a detailed budget, as well as a results chain aligned with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The selection committee will carefully examine the project's financial viability and sustainability, in addition to the other selection criteria listed above. It will also be necessary to demonstrate the impact of the project by developing specific indicators and targets directly linked to its contribution to the SDGs. This will allow for a concrete demonstration of the project's impact.

35) What is our approach to Responsible Business Conduct (RBC)?

In line with the OECD's "Due diligence guidance for Responsible Business Conduct", preselected enterprises will be required to complete a simplified RBC template tailored to the needs of businesses, and to select at least two activities related to Responsible Business Conduct to be implemented over the duration of the project. All multinationals must demonstrate an in-depth RBC approach. As lead partners of BPF projects, Luxembourg companies with more than 100 employees will be encouraged to adhere to the National Pact on 'Businesses and Human Rights'.

Enterprises with a large footprint in minerals, textiles, construction, cement, animal protein or other high-risk sectors as defined by the EU may be asked to provide additional supporting documentation. Any business processing raw materials linked to EU regulations on deforestation will have to highlight its approach to combating deforestation. To date, the targeted value chains include soy, beef, palm oil, timber, cocoa, and coffee, as well as all products derived from them.

36) What human rights principles should the partners respect?

The lead partner verifies, as part of a due diligence procedure, that he complies, for himself and the entire value chain of which he is part, with the United Nations' guiding principles on business and human rights, as well as the OECD's guiding principles on human rights.

Due diligence is the process by which enterprises, as an integral part of their decision-making and risk management systems, identify, prevent, mitigate and report on actual or potential adverse human rights impacts of their activities. The nature and extent of due diligence appropriate to a particular situation will depend on factors such as the size of the enterprise, the context of its operations, the specific recommendations of the guidelines and the severity of the adverse impacts. Where enterprises have many suppliers, they are encouraged to identify the general areas where the risk of adverse impacts is most significant and then, based on this risk assessment, to prioritize due diligence on certain suppliers.

37) What support is available to draw up my detailed proposal?

The LuxDev team is at the disposal of pre-selected companies for any request for clarification concerning the drafting of their detailed proposal. Luxembourg-based companies will also be able to benefit from the support of Luxinnovation, the national innovation agency.

38) What is the timeframe for drafting the detailed proposal with my partners?

Partners have 3 to 4 months to draw up their detailed proposal. The deadline for submission of a detailed proposal will be indicated at the time of notification of the pre-selection.

39) Who is in the BPF selection committee?

The BPF pre-selection and selection committees are made up of the same representatives (see the composition of the pre-selection committee above).

40) How does the pitch session work?

If your project is pre-selected and after submitting your detailed proposal, you will be invited to pitch your project in front of the selection committee. You will be notified of the dates in advance. You should plan to attend a one-hour session. Involving the local partner is strongly recommended.

41) How will I receive the selection notification for a BPF co-financing?

If your project is selected, you will receive a notification letter by email. You will then be contacted by the project team to work out the impact indicators and negotiate the contract.

COFINANCING AND FINANCIAL CONTRIBUTION

42) What is co-financing and are there any rules to follow?

Co-financing is a direct financial contribution through a donation or non-commercial payment: It aims to encourage businesses to propose initiatives that achieve specific impact results in line with the objectives outlined in the call for proposals.

Key rules to follow:

1. Private sector initiatives: Co-financing is only possible when the initiative comes from the private sector, and the results of the funded action belong to the co-financing beneficiary.
2. Non-profit rule: on the one hand, co-financing cannot aim to generate a profit from the project and, on the other hand, creation of reserves through the project is not allowed. Any profit margins obtained from the co-financed project during its execution must be reinvested in project execution.
3. Double funding prohibition: Double funding of project costs is not allowed. Expenses for actions that occurred before the signing of a co-financing agreement are not eligible (principle of non-cumulative allocation and absence of double funding, as well as the principle of non-retroactivity).

43) Will the co-financing need to be repaid?

The financial support granted by the BPF is a non-refundable grant. Payment of the final tranche of co-financing, which represents 25% of the total, is however limited to the expenditure actually incurred.

44) Can I get an advance before signing the contract and starting the project?

Yes, if your project is pre-selected, you can request pre-financing corresponding to a maximum of 10% of the total amount of co-financing requested. This pre-financing is intended to help partners prepare their detailed proposal, for example by carrying out market research or field missions.

If the project is selected, the amount granted will be deducted from the first tranche of co-financing.

If the project is not selected, the amount granted will not be returned, subject to proof of expenditure.

45) Do all partners have to contribute financially to the project?

Overall, the partners must make a financial contribution to the project, representing at least 50% of the total cost of the project.

The lead partner must invest financially in the project. There are no obligations regarding the financial contribution of the local partner(s), but a balanced participation of each partner is encouraged and valued when applications are analysed.

46) If my project is selected, how will the co-financing be paid out?

As soon as the agreement between LuxDev and the lead partner has been signed, a first instalment of 25% of the co-financing amount will be paid, after any suspensive conditions have been lifted.

To receive payment of a second instalment of 50% of the co-financing amount, the partners must provide the following supporting documents:

- A financial report showing that 50% of the total planned expenditure has been spent.
- A technical report demonstrating the achievement of the impact objectives agreed with the partners to release the payment corresponding to this stage.

The lead partner must also demonstrate the completion of at least one of the two pre-defined RBC actions.

The balance of maximum 25% will be paid based on a final technical and financial report demonstrating the results of the project and justifying the expenditure actually incurred corresponding to the totality of the budget. The lead partner must also demonstrate the completion of the second pre-defined RBC actions. Payment of the balance is limited to the expenditure actually incurred.

47) To whom the co-financing will be paid out?

The co-financing from LuxDev will be integrally paid out to the lead partner.

48) What types of expenditure are eligible?

To be eligible for co-financing, expenditure must meet all the following criteria (without being exhaustive):

- Be necessary for carrying out the action (economic activity), directly attributable to the action and resulting directly from its execution;
- Be borne by the project promoter(s), i.e. they represent actual expenditure genuinely and effectively borne by the project promoter(s);
- Be reasonable, justified and in line with the principle of sound financial management, as well as being in line with the usual practices of the project owner(s), whatever the source of funding. Procurement contracts must comply with normal purchasing practices, provided that the contract is awarded to the bid offering the best value for money and that any conflict of interest is avoided;

- Be due during the period of implementation of the co-financed project, consistent with the scope and timetable of the activities;
- Be identifiable and supported by documentary evidence, in particular determined and recorded in accordance with the usual accounting practices of the project sponsor(s);
- Comply with the provisions of the applicable tax and social legislation, considering the privileges and other advantages granted to the project promoter(s).

For indicative purposes, expenses that may be considered eligible include those related to investments, equipment, human resources, training activities, as well as travel expenses (non-exhaustive categories).

49) As a partner in the project, what type of co-financing can I provide?

The partners contribute financially and in kind, for example by using their internal human resources. The co-financing provided by the partners may not come from another grant obtained from a public entity. Loans from financial institutions and grants from private foundations may be considered as part of the co-financing.

50) In what currency will the co-financing be paid?

Co-financing will be paid in euros to the lead partner.

51) What costs are not eligible?

The following costs are not eligible: costs incurred outside the project period indicated in the co-financing agreement, dividends paid by the company, debts and debt charges, valuation of pre-existing assets, interest rate charges, bank charges and exchange losses.

PROJECT REPORTING AND MONITORING

52) If my project is selected, what can I expect in terms of monitoring and reporting?

Businesses receiving co-financing will be required to provide LuxDev with biannual technical and financial reports. These reports will focus on the results indicators and targets proposed by the enterprises in their application, agreed with LuxDev and mentioned in the annexes to the co-financing agreement. The achievement of certain results will trigger the co-financing payment instalments. Following each report (half-yearly or final), the enterprise may be invited to take part in a short meeting with LuxDev team. To evaluate the results of the selected projects and to improve learning, LuxDev reserves the right to request on-site visits by its staff and external evaluations. Depending on the progress observed, LuxDev will select certain projects for which an external impact evaluation will be carried out.

At the end of the project, the partners must continue to monitor the predefined long-term impact indicators and provide LuxDev with an annual update until two years after the end of the project.

53) What supporting documents will be required for expenses incurred during the project?

The lead partner undertakes to facilitate access to all supporting documents for expenditure at LuxDev's request. Accordingly, the partner must make available its accounts and any other document justifying compliance with the conditions under which the co-financing was granted. For example:

- for human resources expenditure, payroll records for employees may be requested;
- for purchases of equipment or services, invoices must be available.
